RCMP Community Service Award For 2022

Maskwacis Community Policing Team, K Division, Maskwacis, Alberta

Corporal Holly Porterfield

Constable Stephanie Corbett

Constable Colin Efford

PSE Analyst Leala Mitchell

The Maskwacis Community Policing Unit (CPS) is a team that has demonstrated exemplary public service to their community, both on and off duty. The unit members are assigned to enhanced positions under the Community Tripartite Agreement and have the mandate to provide a visible, positive, policing presence within the four Cree Nations that form Maskwacis.

During the past year, this team has faced significant pressures and demands as they strive to operate during the pandemic as well as dealing with reconciliation challenges and personally addressing the calls for action under the Missing, Murdered, Indigenous Women and Girls Inquiry. Members of the Maskwacis Community Policing Team contributes to their community through numerous community groups, initiatives and involvements outside of their regular duties. The nomination is for the team as a whole, as their results are achieved as a whole.

The extensive examples of the team's accomplishments are on IODE.ca in whole.
